

Beware Of Kangen Knock-Offs

Hello friends of Enagic USA! Today's alkaline water topic focuses on the superior quality of the in-home Enagic water ionizers. Many pH water machine companies claim to be 'similar to Enagic'. This is simply not true.

In 1965, the Japanese Health and Welfare Agency approved electrolysis water devices as medical equipment. In 1987, Enagic water ionization machines were licensed as medical devices in Japan.

Because of Enagic's success, companies in Korea and Taiwan have created inferior imitations and market them in the United States. These Kangen knock-offs are not licensed as medical devices in Japan, their country of origin, nor the U.S.

If you take the time and expend the effort to honestly examine the benefits of pH water, I am confident, after an acceptable trial of personal usage, you will want to have these benefits for your entire family. It's not a sales job, its discovery.

Spend an Enlightening 22 minutes right here, you will most likely never look at water in the same way - www.KangenDemo.com,

Bruce Douglas 303-434-8258

Enagic The Gold Standard in Water Filtration Machines